

SPEP™ Primary and Supplemental Service Categories

Restorative Services

Restitution; community service

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Mediation

Qualifying supplemental services: Restitution/community service

Counseling and its variants

Individual counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Mentoring

Qualifying supplemental services: Behavioral contracting/management

Family counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Family crisis counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Group counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Mixed counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: Behavioral contracting/management

Skill building services

Behavioral contracting; contingency management

Qualifying supplemental services: Mentoring, Mixed counseling (individual, group, family, and/or vocational), Remedial academic program

Cognitive-behavioral therapy

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Social skills training

Qualifying supplemental services: None

Challenge programs

Qualifying supplemental services: Group counseling

Remedial academic program

Qualifying supplemental services: Job -related services (work experience, job preparation, and/or job training)

Job-related training

Vocational counseling

Qualifying supplemental services: Remedial academic services

Job training

Qualifying supplemental services: Remedial academic services

Work experience

Qualifying supplemental services: Remedial academic services

Notes:

- The service types refer only to services substantially similar to the analogous services represented in the research studies on which the SPEP™ is based. Full definitions of these service types, as found in the most current version of the SPEP™ Users Guide, must be used to make that classification.